

Everyday there's tons of food being wasted in the USC's dining halls. I'll see whole sandwiches and meals untouched on the dish conveyor belt. Kids will get too much food and barely eat any of it. Though knowing that they won't finish what's on their plate, they repeatedly get a plethora of food each day and end up trashing it all, all because it's all you can eat. This is poor for the environment and just generally wasteful.
